We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That when any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security.
The "academic year" is ending; the enthusiasm for the Strike has dwindled, and people are going home soon—if they haven't left already. There are still many valuable things going on that have grown out of our Strike to SHUT IT DOWN TO OPEN IT UP. In many ways, it has been opened up, from the community work that has been happening to the workshops to the Union and some of the dorms. Whether or not it was actually shut down, UNH will never be the same. But what will happen this summer?? I think it is time we started thinking about that very seriously: what is going to happen to the Community Action group and all of the things that they are doing? To the Political Action group? To the workshops and the groups working on doing some restructuring of this University to make it into a real Community? Some great first steps have been taken, but we are by no means all the way there.

Will we all go away this summer and forget about this, or will we continue to broaden and solidify the things that we have begun? I feel that it is crucial, in terms of the goals we are attempting to reach, that they continue this summer. It would be unrealistic, both politically and tactically, to try to shut down summer school. The people who come to summer school are primarily here because they want the courses and the grades and it is their option. What would happen is that a few "non-student radicals" would invade summer school and try to prevent all those people from getting the education they really want. The opposition the Strike has met with this semester would be magnified many times, and the effort would be purposeless. However, the continuation of the things that are now going on because of the Strike could and would be far from purposeless. This summer is the time for us to broaden our effectiveness and support in the community through canvassing, getting up in the community such services as coffeehouses and day care centers, continue talking to the people around the community and the state, letting them know what really went on here and what is still going on, getting them involved in it, continuing workshops, and making them more accessible to the community, and getting ourselves together in terms of what UNH is going to be like next year. We have made a good beginning at taking control over our own lives and educations. This is not the time for that process to stop. If we do, it will most likely be business as usual next year. By that I mean that all of the work and effort will go down the drain if it is not continued and solidified during this summer; next fall it will be as if none of this had happened. I don't think that any of us have been involved in what is going on and want this to happen.

The next question is how are we going to do it? I think the first important point is that we should remain on campus somehow, to utilize the facilities that are here as well as the location, and I think it is also very important that the University remain open to serve as a nerve center year-round as a Community should. That involves a lot of things: funding of some kind so that we can continue to put out the paper, leaflets, etc., as well as some kind of living expenses for the people here or a dorm opened up and available very cheaply, etc., and operating space—namely the Union. If it is liberated now, and our efforts continue, the Union will still be the way it has been in the past: open to the community 24 hours a day and its facilities made available to all those who wish to use them.

These are some questions that we must begin to think about, at least those of us who can be around here this summer. And we must start thinking now and acting very soon, to keep it in mind and let us know what you think. A meeting will soon be set up for all those interested in seeing the campus remain open this summer. In the meantime, come up with some ideas and talk to other people about it—we can't let all of this work and energy be wasted.

WASHINGTON----The U.S. Commission on Obscenity and Pornography met in Washington today. One of the witnesses, Don Forcade, the representative of the Underground Press Syndicate, called it an "unconstitutional, illegitimate, unlawful, prehistoric, obscene, absurd, Keystone Committee." Asked for further evidence, Forcade cited the repression of 51 underground newspapers, produced a report entitled "Pie Power," and hurled a pie into the Commissioner's face. Forcade then left with his 3 year old daughter in a stream of curses and four-letter words.
Concord, N. H. ---Bellknap and St. Anselm's Roman Catholic colleges said today that they will remain open for the rest of the year. However, the colleges said that students troubled by the national crisis are being given alternatives to finishing their studies. A college spokesman said the number of students on strike at Bellknap is small, although the college overwhelmingly approved a resolution attacking the Cambodian military action and the deaths of four Kent State students.

Portland, Maine ---About three thousand delegates and a contingent of anti-war college students descended on Portland, Maine today to attend the democratic state convention. Key issues at the two-day convention are expected to be the Vietnam war and state income tax. Dissident students from Bowdoin College and the University of Maine have called upon students to attend the convention in hopes of converting it into a "peace congress." Convention leaders have agreed to allow a student representative to address the convention.

Santa Barbara, Calif. ---The strike in Santa Barbara has faculty support. Draft card burnings have been staged. There is a split between students on whether to take a hard line or a soft line stance in the strike. Some people are canvassing. There are no reports of violence at this time.

Augusta, Maine. ---The Penobscot Indians have warned Maine Governor Kenneth Curtis that they may secede from the state if he does not honor an 1818 treaty in time for Old town's 150th Anniversary celebration next month. The treaty promised the Indians an annual 500 bushels of corn, 100 pounds od gun powder, 400 pounds of shot, 150 pounds of tobacco, and 50 dollars in silver. A spokesman for the Indians said that the treaty was never honored although the Indians ceded territory amounting to half the state's present boundaries.

Providence, R.I. ---The father of one of the students killed at Kent State believes his son's death could be a turning point for the nation...To either disaster or peace. Bernard Miller told a Brown University audience last night that the deaths "could well touch off a cycle of violence and repression which will bring America crashing down, or we can convert this moment into a shining hour which can jolt the conscience of this sleepwalking nation into redemptive action."

Durham, N.H. ---UNH President Jack McConnell said today that 80% of the students are politically inactive. He also noted that there are no more than 100 hard core radicals, are at the Strike Daily Headquarters, we have discovered 2 of them. Will the other 98 cease to come to the office and sign their names?

Every one of you has noticed, at one time or another, the simply beautiful sunrises and sunsets we are now experiencing. Colours of violet, purple, orange, red, pink...hold our eyes for long gazed. Never before has this planet displayed such multi-coloured sky paintings—all as a direct result of pollution. Think about that..........................the end.

THE DID YOU KNOW DEPT.

Did you know that the University of New Hampshire doesn't like it's own students, as well as the students of Paul Smith College in N.Y.? Well sisters and brothers, it's true. Students in the University's own Thompson School of Applied Science are required to have an average of at least 2.7 in order to transfer into the four-year college, while students from Paul Smith need only four passing grades. Paul Smith College is a comparable school with identical accreditation (the only prerequisite for transfer policy). TSAS students do not receive credit for courses taken in the regular University. A TSAS graduate receives transfer credit for only half the courses taken. The list of grievances goes on and on. If you are a TSAS student, you should be concerned.
